ABOUT THE VENUE

Located alongside the SEC Centre and the SEC Armadillo as part of the SEC Campus, the Hydro hosts international music artists, world-class entertainment and major sporting events. It is the fifth-largest indoor arena in the UK.

During Glasgow 2026, the Hydro will once again host the Netball competition, having previously staged the Netball and Gymnastics competitions during the Glasgow 2014 Commonwealth Games.

Address: [Exhibition Way, Stobcross Rd,
Glasgow G3 8YW](#)

NETBALL

SATURDAY 25 JULY
- SUNDAY 2 AUGUST 2026

Introduced to the Commonwealth Games in 1998, Netball is one of the Games' most popular sports and is played by more than 20 million people across over 80 countries.

Since its introduction, 23 Nations have competed in Netball. It is one of the most widely played team sports for women and girls across the Commonwealth, yet only three nations have claimed Commonwealth Games Gold — Australia, New Zealand and England.

As one of only two sports on the Glasgow 2026 programme that does not feature at the Olympic Games, Netball's growing global profile has contributed to ongoing discussions about its inclusion at the Brisbane 2032 Olympic Games.

Netball is constantly evolving, with innovative tactics and techniques often named after the players who pioneer them. One to watch out for is the Harrison Hoist — a spectacular move that has become a feature of the modern game.
